Looking for PI or other extension for flash!
Posted by Cheddz - 17 Jun 2009 17:33

_____

I have created a flash image with rollover effect, and I would like to link those different rollover spots to categories on my site. Does anyone know of an extension to do that? Thanks!

==

Looking for PI or other extension for flash!
Posted by joomtorial - 17 Jun 2009 17:44

_____

Hi,

My first impression would be that while creating your flash file, you could insert the urls in the original flash files. Most likely you can make it use an xml file and that way you can always update your "hotspots" in the xml file without having to edit the original flash file.

Another possibility might be to use dreamweaver and create the hotspots. Have a look at this topic: viewtopic.php?f=3&t=46#p113

There are some menu systems that can do what you want, but they are menu systems, not systems that work with graphics and non-rectangle hotspots.

Let me know if you have any more questions.

==

Looking for PI or other extension for flash!
Posted by Cheddz - 17 Jun 2009 17:58

_____

Great, thanks! I've never used XML before, so I would have to do a little bit of research to jump the learning curve, but I appreciate the push into this direction.

==