

Website Error

Posted by paul50 - 25 Jun 2010 22:07

Hello Piet

I really need your help. Ive just tried to transfer a video file to my website that was 10mb using filezilla. The location it was going to was public html - media. I've just had a look at my website www.redrouteparking.com and it's now all over the place with content and pictures missing from all the pages. I have no idea how to undo what I just did. Please can you help me. I'm very scared that I might have just lost 6 months worth of work. I'm using joomla 1.5.15

Kind Regards

Paul

=====

Website Error

Posted by joomtorial - 25 Jun 2010 22:12

Hi Paul,

I just checked. I think the error is not so much the video, but a SEF/SEO tool.

Could you give me your Joomla admin login and password through PM (personal Message - click on PM on the right side under my avatar)

=====

Website Error

Posted by paul50 - 26 Jun 2010 02:23

Hi Piet

I've managed to fix the problem. What I did was usin filezilla, I renamed the .htaccess file then I renamed the htaccess.txt to .htaccess (which can be found in the file public_html)

In global configuration file in joomla under seo settings I done this:

Search engine friendly urls Yes

Use apache mod_rewrite Yes

Add suffix to urls No

My website has now gone back to normal

=====