When you are reading this, it is likely that you wrote or want to write an article about Joomtitorial.com and want to receive our 100% discount to receive your free copy of our Joomla Video Tutorial.

After you have written an article on a blog or on Digg.com or sites alike, please use our link submission form and provide us the link of the website where you wrote your article about joomtitorial.com.

Note: For sites like Digg.com often 1 entry is maximum. After a first entry on Digg.com and sites alike, a new entry for the same site will be seen as a duplicate entry. When you encounter this, we also accept a comment (and extra "digg") on Digg.com and similar sites. We do need to see a real comment. Of-course we only give out our free Joomla Video Tutorial on positive articles, blogs, forum postings and comments.

Once we are able to view and read the article you wrote, you will receive a coupon code by email and with that a 100% discount on our Joomla Video Tutorial.

Why all this trouble to get our free Joomla Video Tutorial? Well that is easily answered. We would like to get known on the web, you writing articles with a link in that article to joomtitorial.com will get us known on the web and will get us higher up in Google rankings. That is worth a lot to us and in return we want to offer you our $25 Video tutorial for free.

Mind you, this is a time-limited offer! So get your pens and keyboards out and receive your free copy today.

We hope you will write some nice articles about us and include a link to joomtitorial.com and we hope that you will enjoy our Joomla Video Tutorials.
